DRAG NET YIELDS EVIDENCE AGAINST ILLEGAL CONTRACTORS

Elaborate and Widespread System of Contingent Fee Basis Contracts Unearthed by the Sleuths.

Much Information Other Than that in Documents Gathered by Department of Justice.

All Future Contracts With Government Must Contain No Third Party Clause.

By Associated Press Dispatch. Washington, June 18.—Several thousand letters and documents containing proofs of an elaborate system of obtaining government contracts on the illegal contingent fee basis were received today by the Department of Justice from its agents who conducted raids on hundreds of contractor's business offices late yesterday.

The commissions paid on these contracts it was disclosed, ranged from 5 to 20 per cent and the aggregate fees probably ran into millions of dollars. Evidence was discovered of hundreds of contracts made under these arrangements heretofore unsuspected by the Department of Justice.

Manufacturers were threatened in many cases with being deprived of contracts if they refused to negotiate with these agents on a commission compensation plan. Some agents represented that they had special influence over members of Congress.

In addition to these documents other information came to the Department from manufacturers who had been solicited by contract commission agents located in Washington. The manufacturers offered their assistance in stamping out the illegal system.

An immediate result of the disclosure was a letter sent by Attorney General to heads of all government departments making war contracts proposing that all future contracts should contain a clause pledging the manufacturer not to employ any third party in negotiations with the government.

Italians and British Have Given Austrian Army Serious Setback.

Ninety-two Divisions, 1,000,000 Austrians Hurlled Against the Italian Lines, in Vain Endeavor to Break Through, Meet With Failure.

Losses of the Austrians Described as Frightful.

Counter Offensive Which May Put Austria Out of War Among Immediate Possibilities.

Heavy Artillery Fire on Fronts in France.

American Positions Bombarded But No Attack Made.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Holding their line intact along virtually all the 90 miles of battle front from the Adriatic to the Asiago plateau the Italians and allied armies appear to have given the Austrian army a serious setback.

Ninety-two divisions, or 1,000,000 Austrians have been hurled against the Italian front, but have gained little except along the Piave river where their progress is seemingly too slow to be threatening.

Losses which are described as frightful have been inflicted upon the Austrians at many points.

In the mountains where the British have been holding their positions thousands of the enemy have perished while they have paid heavily for every foot they have advanced along the Piave river front.

In the Montello area on the Upper Piave the Austrians seem to have gained a foothold on the west bank of the river. Nevertheless their greatest gain does not exceed two or three miles.

Prisoners taken by the Italian, French and British now total 5,000. The latest reports from Vienna claim the capture of 12,000 prisoners. There are hints of a counter offensive in reports from Italy.

Emperor Charles is reported to be directing the offensive and dispatches from Switzerland say thousands of troops are being rushed forward. Further Austrian efforts are expected.

While the Italian front occupies the center of the stage, events of importance may be taking shape in the Somme battlefield. Heavy firing by the German artillery in the Ancre valley and northward to Serre is reported by the British. This bombardment may be the prelude of the resumption of the German offensive in France.

Activity on the front in France continues of a minor character. German efforts to drive the French from their new gains around Hautebaux north-west of Soissons were repulsed by the French who increased their captures to 370 prisoners.

American positions northwest of the Chateau Thierry are being bombarded heavily with gas shells and there are indications that the enemy may again try to drive the Americans from Balleau Woods and other territory recently gained. The enemy artillery fire also has increased along the Marne but there has been no infantry activity.

On the Lunenburg front enemy raiders have captured a few Americans while in the Vosges in Alsace American gunners broke up a German raid.

GERMAN TROOPS LAUNCH OFFENSIVE IN SOUTH RUSSIA

Bolsheviki Orders Mobilization of Workmen and Peasants.

(Associated Press Cable) London, June 18.—German troops in southern Russia began an offensive eastward on the Voronezh front on June 15th says a Russian government message.

The Bolsheviki war department has ordered the mobilization of all workmen and peasants born from 1893 to 1897 in a large number of provinces.

BONAR LAW PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO AMERICA

Says American Troops in France Have Reached a Figure Deemed Impossible.

Significant Utterance by A Noted Briton.

(By Associated Press Cable) London, June 18.—"After three days of attack the Austrian offensive has not secured the objectives hoped for on the first day," said Andrew Bonar Law, in the house of commons today. He added that there was reason to believe that the initiative for the Austrian offensive had come from Berlin.

Mr. Law read extracts from the minutes of the last supreme war council at Versailles. They stated that thanks to the prompt and cordial cooperation of America it would be impossible for the enemy to gain a victory by wearing down the allied reserves before exhausting his own.

He said that American troops were pouring into France and had reached a figure which a few months ago would have been thought impossible. American military cooperation, he said, would not be limited by the lack of transports.

NOVEL PLAN TO KEEP IN TOUCH WITH BOYS

Rev. W. B. Gage of the Presbyterian church, has conceived a splendid plan, whereby the church can keep in close contact with its members now in active service.

The plan is to publish a letter in the form of a small newspaper, containing departments of the church news, local news and news from the boys themselves. This paper is to be published every two weeks under auspices of the Christian Endeavor and sent to the 45 boys of the church now in service, wherever they may be either in the United States or overseas.

The staff is composed of Miss Ada Woodward, editor-in-chief, who will have charge of the news from the boys themselves; Miss Dorthea McDowell, church news; Miss Mary Persinger, local news; and Miss Doris Willis, art department, who will furnish illustrations for each issue.

This letter, or newspaper will be short and very concise, but will contain news that will be of special interest to the boys.

These letters will not be printed, but the original copy will be duplicated. Miss Mary Pyley has assumed the responsibility of duplicating and mailing the copies.

In order to help finance this project next Sunday every one attending church is urged to bring with them 3-cent stamps.

The families of the boys in service are asked to please notify the staff of any change of addresses.

Women's Hospital Get Early Chance "The Stars and Stripes" published in France contributes the following interesting tribute to the Women's Over Sea Hospitals, U. S. A.:

"Hats off—no, we don't take our hats off in the army; we salute.

"A salute, then for the Women's Over sea Hospitals, U. S. A., the first unit of which is in France and doing business. It comprises the first group of women physicians and surgeons from the United States to see service in Europe, and it distinguished itself before it had been here a month by operating a hospital in the field so close to the firing line that the members were within sight and sound of bursting shells.

This pioneer unit of the Women's Over sea Hospitals was formed under the auspices of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, by four women physicians and surgeons of the staff of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children—Drs. Carolina S. Finley, Alice Gregory, Mary Lee Edwards and Anna von Sholly.

"The women volunteered for service with the American Army, but their offer was rejected. They then offered themselves to the French Government and were accepted. It was agreed that they were to operate a hospital for the French civil population which upon 48 hours' notice, was to be turned into a military hospital. The American Red Cross agreed to furnish the equipment and supplies.

Site For Hospital Found "Dr. Finley came to France two months ago and selected a site for the hospital. She chose a village in the Department of the Aisne, the population of which was in need of medical aid because all the French practitioners had left for service with the army. Before this hospital was fully established, however, came the German drive and the site which they had chosen fell into Boche hands. The unit withdrew.

"The wounded began to come back from the fighting lines and the women not to be idle, asked French army officials for immediate duty in the field. They were assigned to Temporary Hospital No. 11, which they operated during the height of the fighting and still are operating. They have treated scores of French and British soldiers, administered anaesthetics, set bones, dressed wounds and performed minor and major operations.

"During the first few days, the Germans got so close that they dropped shells with in a mile or two of the hospital, but the women, although they thought they were actually within reach of the Boche guns, worked without interruption.

"The unit includes six physicians and surgeons and numbers 31. Its boast is that it is independent of man, that it can take over a hospital, or convert into one a building not previously used for that purpose and do all the work there is to do without any aid from the outside. In addition to a dentist, it has a carpenter and electrician, a plumber, an auto-repair woman and two chauffeurs.

"Another contingent of 60—physicians, surgeons and helpers—will be in France soon, and others are expected to follow."

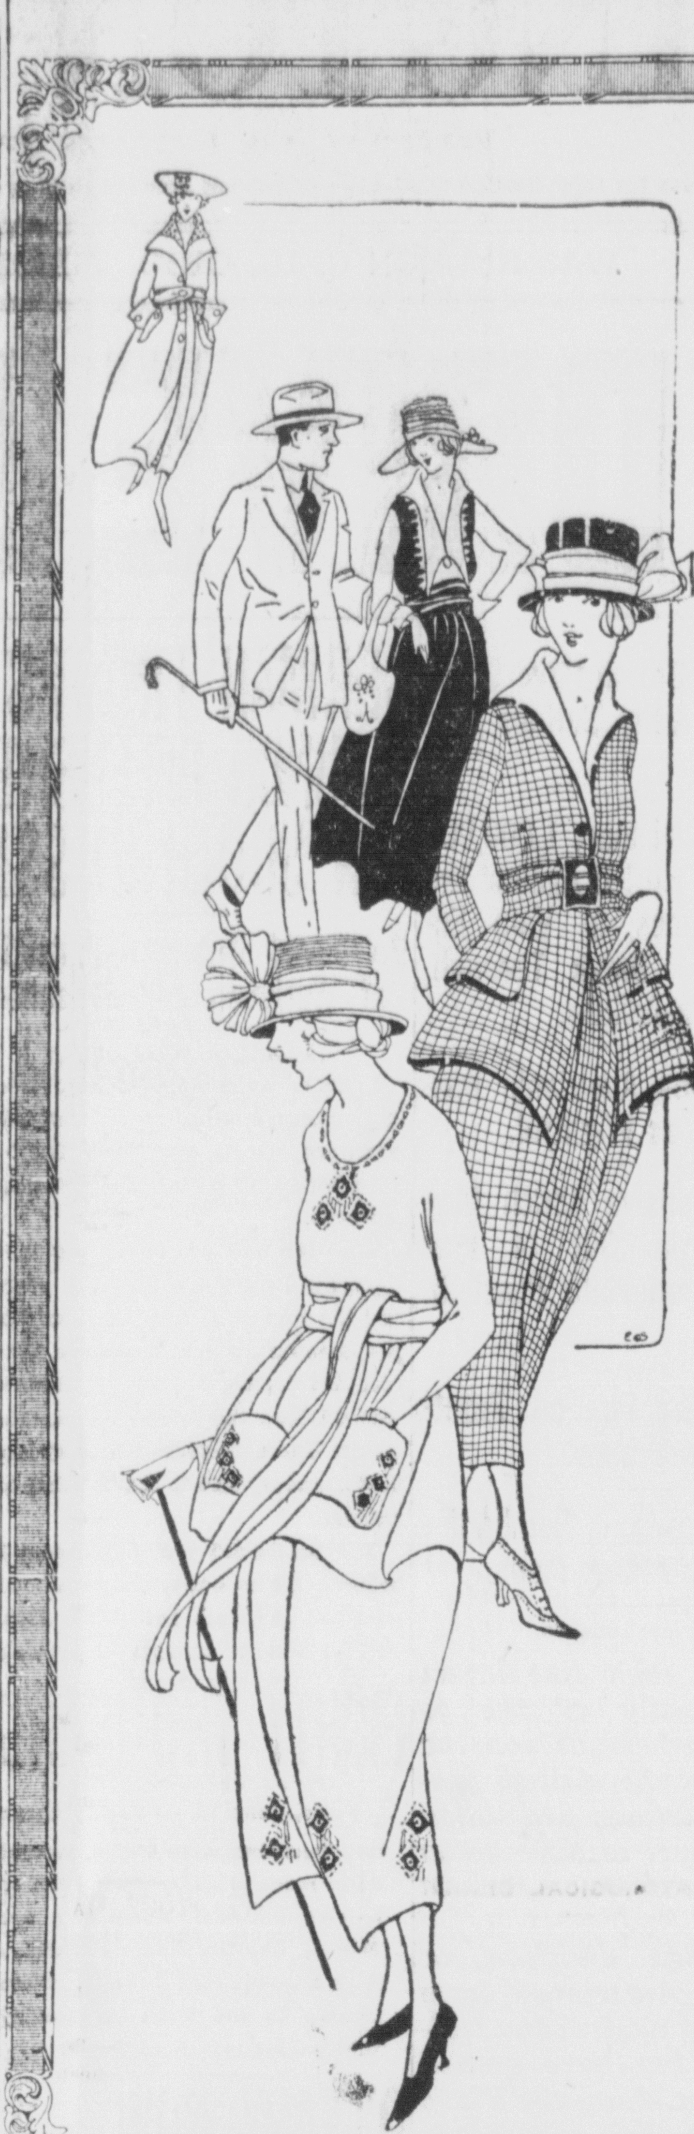

Full Red Cross Quota Mrs. Eva J. Penn, chairman of the local Red Cross work shop, has received information from Lake Division headquarters giving the full quota of work allotted to the local chapter. The required amount is 2000 pairs socks, 100 sweaters, 100 girls pinafore, 500 men's canton-flannel bed shirts, 100 women's house gowns.

He advises this precaution until a report on the true condition of the city water is obtained from analysis of samples of water recently sent to the State Board of Health for examination.

Health Officer Byron does not believe the condition of the water is cause for undue alarm, but believes boiling should be done until definite information is at hand.

HUN POLICE DOG NOW OWNED HERE

Washington now possesses one of the very valuable and exceedingly rare, in this country, German wolf bounds, or police dogs.

This particular dog was secured from the kennels of a millionaire resident of Piqua, Ohio, and taken to Columbus some months ago where it eventually became the property of Dr. Evan Brock, who in turn gave the dog to his brother, Dr. L. L. Brock of this city, who now has it.

In appearance the dog resembles his wild ancestor—the wolf. With strangers the dog is very "offish," refusing absolutely to make friends with anyone save his master, and refusing also to obey anyone save the one master—a trait educated into them by the German military leaders, who make use of large numbers in trench warfare, as lookouts and patrols in no man's land.

Long before the war the German militarists and peasants alike had large numbers of these dogs in training for war purposes and as aids to the police departments in the larger cities.

Since Dr. Brock brought this unusual canine to Washington there is only one of the kind now in Columbus.

Quite naturally Dr. Brock is proud of his possession. Naturally fond of dogs this unusual member of the dog family he considers quite a prize.

Some Possibilities

The American people, according to present indications, as well as the people of the entente nations, should be prepared for the launching of another powerful German offensive in the near future, with Paris or the Channel ports as the objective of the Huns, more probably the latter, although the capture of Paris would be of tremendous military advantage to the enemy.

The Central Powers are in desperate straits and are fighting desperately and frantically, indicating a full realization that if the war is to be won by them at all it must be won quickly.

The American armies are arriving in Europe in numbers and in condition that has amazed the world—a million at least by July first, and three million in the near future. Germany sees the handwriting on the wall and knows that her greatest effort must be exerted before America gets going at top speed.

The allied armies have done a wonderful work in holding the long line from the North Sea to Switzerland intact against the frightful lunges of the Teutonic hordes. In considering what the allies have accomplished, and perhaps a little discouraged over the loss of territory, we must remember that while holding the long defense line, the allies must also be prepared to check these German offensives with all the advantage in favor of the foe who can select the exact point of attack and mass, unknown to the allies, scores of divisions to hurl into the chosen battle front.

The allies dare not weaken the long line at any point to meet an attack until the opening of the battle makes the location certain. That situation, which cannot be avoided, results in a marked advantage to the attacking army.

General Foch has postponed launching any offensive until American reinforcements arrive in heavy numbers, until the Germans have been weakened by constant attacks. Ground has been surrendered after the price has been exacted from the foe rather than risk weakening the long line in any sector to launch an attack.

When we stop to consider it, the success of the allied forces in holding all vital points and inflicting such appalling losses on the enemy, has been marvelous.

It is possible that before the present battles are ended the allies may be compelled to leave unprotected some valuable points—to release their hold on some of the many sectors in order to concentrate for the offensive against the German army.

When General Grant started his long campaign in pursuit of General Lee's army there was many a storm of protest throughout the North because it left Washington open to attack. General Grant's characteristic reply was that he didn't care, the time had come to crush Lee's army and whether Washington fell or not he would capture the Army of Virginia and he did, ending the war.

Some such development in France is not impossible. It may, when it comes, expose Paris or the Channel ports to capture. One or the other may be taken by the enemy but, it is possible, that the enemy may be too busy trying to save his army from capture to force a campaign against an exposed point.

Lee was too closely pressed by Grant to give any attention to a campaign against Washington. Hindenburg may be too busy dodging Foch's forces to capture Paris or the Channel ports if they are left exposed.

This, of course, is only speculative, but it is not an impossible development of the near future.

Road Conditions

The roads and "pikes" of the county are now in splendid condition, all things considered, much better in fact than any of our adjoining counties.

Of course there is room yet for improvement, but before complaining about road conditions we must remember the times, the shortage of labor, the traffic congestion, the demand for money for war work, the taxation limitations and many other obstacles which confront the officials charged with road work.

Time was, only a few years ago, when travelers along the highways could tell when they crossed the county line into Fayette county by the wretched condition of the roads, but now just the reverse is true.

With our road work we must be patient and appreciative of the difficulties faced by the authorities.

It's in many respects, like our war work—we can't, by simply wishing for results, bring them about. We must allow for conditions and accept the results in view of those conditions. Don't expect the impossible and we will realize that, really, a great deal of good has been accomplished in the way of road improvement.

Comparison with results accomplished elsewhere will not be to the discredit of Fayette county officials.

Poetry For Today

MOTHER OF MEN
The bravest battle that ever was fought!
Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you will find it not—
'Tis fought by the mothers of men.
Nay, not with cannon or battle shot
With sword or nobler pen!
Nay, not with eloquent words or thought
From mouths of wonderful men,
But deep in the walled-up woman's heart,
Of woman that would not yield,
But bravely, silently, bore her part—
Lo, there is that battlefield!
No marshaling troops, no bivouac song,
No banner to gleam and wave;
But, O, their battles, they last
From babyhood to the grave.
Yet faithful still as a bridge of stars,
She fights in her walled-up town—
Fights on and on in endless wars,
Then silent, unseen, goes down.
O, ye with banners and battle shot,
And soldiers to shout and praise,
I tell you the kindest victories fought
Were fought in those silent ways.
O, spotless woman in a world of shame,
With splendid and silent scorn
Go back to God as white as you came—
The kingliest warrior born!
—Joaquin Miller.

Social and Personal

Members of the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church, together with their families were delightfully entertained at the home of Mr. John Draise, on the Lewis pike, Monday night.

After the regular business session the seventy-five guests enjoyed old fashioned games on the lawn. Light refreshments were served.

Friends in this city will read with much interest the following account from "The Register-Leader," of Marietta of the marriage of Miss Florence Boyd, sister of Dr. J. M. Boyd of this city, at the bride's home in Marietta.

"At high noon on Wednesday June the twelfth, took place a marriage which united two families of honorable ancestry and record, the bride and groom being their worthy representatives, Mr. Douglas Putnam, the groom, son of Mrs. Lydia Edgerton Putnam, of Fifth street, has passed the greater part of his life since leaving Marietta in St. Paul, where he is maintaining his family tradition. The bride, Miss Florence Boyd the youngest daughter of the late Rev. John Boyd, for more than half a century the beloved rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church is a woman of beautiful character and charming personality.

"The wedding which occurred at the home of the bride was simple and informal. The decorations were in white and green. To the sweet strains of the Lohengrin wedding march the happy couple took their places before a bank of palms and lilies, where the ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. M. Hunter. The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. J. M. Boyd, of Washington Court House, Ohio. Her gown was an ivory embroidered tissue. A lace veil was draped gracefully back from her face and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses. A pearl pin, the gift of the bridegroom, was her only ornament.

"Miss Nellie Boyd, the bride's sister, was in white georgette and carried Aaron Ward roses. Mrs. Putnam senior, a lady of the old school, was a beautiful figure attired in pearl grey crepe and lace. Miss Putnam's gown was of pink satin. Mrs. Major A. G. Happer, of Washington, Penn., wore a handsome black chiffon, and Mrs. J. M. Boyd, white georgette crepe.

"Immediately after the ceremony luncheon was served to fifty guests. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Edith Sniffen, who on various occasions in past years, has made the cake for anniversaries in honor of the bride's father.

"Mr. and Mrs. Putnam are returning to St. Paul by way of the lakes. They will spend the summer at Lake Minnetonka and be at home after September 1st at 436 Portland avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Craig celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary with a family dinner Monday night at the home where they have spent so many happy years on East street. An anniversary so rare is an epoch marking event in any family and the Craig family, where ties are unusually close and intimate, it stamps itself indelibly as the pre-eminent event among an unusual number of notable family gatherings.

The occasion brought together the two sons, Messrs T. H. and D. S. Craig and all but four of the grand children, the four grand sons, Winchell, Maynard, Harold and Robert Craig, who are in military service and whose absence was the one shadow upon a perfect day.

Those present were Mr. T. H. Craig, daughter Miss Mary; Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Craig, son Paul, who came down from the O. W. U. for the dinner, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Craig and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Craig and son, Mr. and Mrs. Williams Craig and David Worley of Oklahoma.

The home was a perfect bower of flowers, many friends having remembered the anniversary with both floral tribute and congratulatory letters.

The dinner itself was not elaborate, but its viands were perfectly chosen and delicious and the happiness of the occasion culminated in the recalling of reminiscences rich in sentiment and interest and in delightful family intimacy.

The table was a vision of loveliness, a white and gold color scheme artistically carried out and having for its center piece an exquisite basket of daisies, swansonnias, smilax and fern, the handkerchiefs with large tulle bows. The Buck florists were the decorators.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig presented each grand child with a solid silver fork, engraved with the date of the marriage and the sixtieth anniversary, handsome souvenirs that will be greatly treasured.

The interest of this anniversary is shared by the entire community. No couple have been more closely associated with Fayette's family, church and social life than Mr. and Mrs. Craig and none are more honored and loved. It is seldom that man and wife are privileged to reach the sixtieth anniversary with such keen enjoyment and participation in its interest as Mr. and Mrs. Craig.

After seventy odd years of being continually in business, and at the age of eighty-five, Mr. Craig is at the store of Craig Bros. each morning at seven o'clock. He was but twelve years of age when he entered his father's store in Staunton to later become the junior member of the D. S. Craig and Son Store, one of the landmarks of the early days.

The bride of sixty years, as sweet and lovable as on the day of her marriage, was Mary Ann Burnett, and her connections in the county are extensive as well as those of Mr. Craig.

M COMPANY MEN ENGAGE ENEMY

The following is a clipping from The New York Herald edition of which is published in France and was sent to Washington friends by a Sergeant of Company M, the writer saying if the clipping passed the censor the reader must guess the identity of the officer and men. The inference may well be drawn that the Americans were no others than members of old M Company.

The article follows:
American Front, Tuesday—In the Luneville sector, an American officer and twenty men, just before midnight on Monday, explored the area northwest of Ancerville, sighted 4 different enemy patrols and gained contact with one numbering sixteen men.

The enemy patrol took up position in an unused trench, but were driven from it by our patrol, which captured prisoners one so badly wounded that he died. We had no casualties.

Four hours later an enemy patrol attempted to rush one of our outposts, but was driven off. One German was killed and his body brought into our lines. On the Toul front there was active patrolling last night. One of our groups encountered an enemy patrol south of Apremont and fired on it, whereupon it retired to the German trenches.

HISTORY WILL REPEAT ITSELF

Some three years ago when M Company of this city was called out for riot duty in Youngstown, the company reached Berlin Cross Roads, this side of Youngstown, where they camped for a short time, and the trouble did not make it necessary for them to proceed further.

Friends of the Company firmly believe history will repeat itself and that before M Company returns, they will have visited the larger Berlin and will have done their part in putting an end to Kaiser Bill's "big show."

It is significant that Berlin Cross Roads has changed its name to Battery Effson, in honor of Battery F, composed of 200 soldiers who have been stationed at Camp Sheridan.

DIVORCE ACTION

In the probate court, Ollie Williams has filed action for divorce from Maggie Williams, alleging gross neglect of duty and desertion.

DIRIGIBLE MAKES TRIP OF 350 MILES

A dirigible balloon in charge of Ralph Upston, head of the aircraft department of the Goodyear Rubber Co., of Akron, and Herman Kraft, one of the men who was with the dirigible which passed over this county a year ago last fall and which landed near Kinderhook, made a flight from Akron to Dayton, Saturday evening and returned Sunday, without mishap.

The dirigible was driven by a motor, and made good speed. It was 200 to 300 feet in length and traveled at a height of 4000 to 6000 feet.

The dirigible passed over Springfield enroute.

AIRPLANES LAND AT JEFFERSONVILLE

Three airplanes made a landing on the Janes farm north of Jeffersonville, and one of them broke a rudder in landing, so that it was necessary to make a trip to Jeffersonville for repairs.

The planes attracted quite a number of persons who desired to get a close view of the big planes.

After repairs were made on the damaged machine, the three machines started on the return toward the right field.

LITTE DUST ON PAVED STREETS

During the past two or three weeks Washington citizens have been missing the clouds of disease-carrying dust which have been so annoying the past two or three years as automobiles passed rapidly over the paved streets, or a gust of wind picked up the long accumulated filth and carried it in clouds to be deposited on verandas, on pedestrians, and into the homes along the streets.

With the regular flushings and cleanings given the streets under the new plan of eliminating the dust and refuse, there is little dust gathers between cleanings, to cause annoyance—for which everyone is duly thankful.
